Former Local Man Wins Philadelphia Case As Disabled Fireman

GRANT DALTON finally got things straightened out. Dalton, 56, was born and reared in Harrisburg, the son of Wilson and Ollie Dalton. He has lived in Philadelphia for years.

Here is his story:
A city fireman, he was called to a gas explosion which rocked South Philadelphia on March 1, 1954. In attempting to rescue a man he had to dig through the debris and was so overcome by gas and smoke that he was rendered unconscious and had to be given oxygen.

"He was a heart patient previously and never should have been at this gas explosion," Mrs. Dalton wrote. "He suffered two heart attacks and then a severe stroke."

"The city stopped his pay, would not take care of him medically and stated that his ailment was not service-connected," she continued.

"We fought this case for many months, with articles of appeal to every city official, but could get no results. The Civil Service Commission, which determines whether or not an injury is service-connected, came to Grant's bedside, as did his lawyer and the president of the Fireman's union and the attorney for the city."

"They held a hearing at his bedside and after considering the testimony, his appeal was sustained and the case decided in his favor."

The Philadelphia newspapers ran pictures of the first time the Civil Service commission had held a bedside hearing, and accompanying stories. The stories pointed out that Dalton will receive his full pay of $4,500 a year for the next three years, then will retire on pension.

The story also quoted the Civil Service commissioner, the Rev. E. L. Cunningham, as ruling that in the course of his fire duty Dalton had been exposed to conditions that brought on his cardiac-vascular disability.

Dalton is still bedridden and has a nurse attending him daily. He had been a fireman for 30 years at the time he was dropped from the rolls.

Actress Suzan Ball to Be Buried In Wedding Gown

HOLLYWOOD — Suzan Ball, the darkly beautiful young actress who died of cancer Friday, will be buried here today in the wedding gown she wore so happily 16 months ago when she walked down the aisle on an artificial leg to marry actor Richard Long.

Suzan's funeral services, too, will remind her friends of happier days. Dr. Lewis Evans, the pastor who performed her wedding ceremony, will conduct services in the Church of the Reconciliation at Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Music will be provided by Bert Barton, the organist who played the wedding march for Suzan in a Santa Barbara church in April, 1954.

More than 3,000 friends and admirers were expected to file past her casket this morning when Miss Ball will lie in state. Funeral services were scheduled to take place at 5 p. m. EDT.

Among the mourners will be hundreds of show folk who Monday attended final rites for Carmen Miranda who died only 12 hours before Suzan passed away.

HOLLYWOOD — Film Producer David A. Sebastian planned to leave here for Rio de Janeiro either today or Wednesday with the body of his wife, South American singer and dancer Carmen Miranda.

Last rites of the Roman Catholic Church were held for the Brazilian bombshell Monday at a quiet Mass attended by more than 300 film colony personalities.

Miss Miranda died last Friday of a heart attack.

Cable Rites Held At Eldorado

The funeral of Mrs. Cy Cable, resident of Galatia RFD 1 who died Sunday at 10:30 a. m. in the Ferrell hospital, was today at 2 p. m. at the Martin funeral home in Eldorado. Rev. O. C. Cooper officiated and burial was in the Raleigh Masonic cemetery.

Governor Urges Stevenson to Tell Plans Soon

46 State Chiefs Present for Annual Meeting

CHICAGO — Adlai E. Stevenson should make it clear "relative-ly soon" whether he wants to run for president again in 1956, a Democratic governor said today.

Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey, who supported Stevenson as the Democrats' 1952 presidential candidate, told reporters at a news conference he thinks Stevenson should make his plans for 1956 known "in the next two or three months."

Meyner, 47, who was elected New Jersey governor 18 months ago, spoke to reporters before the opening of the 47th annual governors' conference. Forty-six governors were gathering for the meeting, with the 1956 presidential race a prime topic of discussion.

Will Visit Stevenson
Meyner declined to say whether he will back Stevenson in 1956, saying that depends on the "thinking within political groups" in his state.

"I can't say at this particular time that there is unanimity behind any one candidate," he said. He said a recent public opinion poll showed, however, that New Jersey Democrats ranked Stevenson No. 1 among possible presidential candidates, with Tennessee Sen. Estes Kefauver second.

Asked whether he agreed that Stevenson should make his plans known soon, Meyner said "I'm inclined to agree that any person who seeks the nomination will have to do it relatively soon—in the next two or three months."

Meyner disclosed that he plans to visit with Stevenson while here for the governors' conference sometime this week, at Stevenson's invitation.

"What I talk about depends on what he starts talking about," Meyner said in response to a question. "Very Popular"

Asked about the possibility New York Gov. Averell Harriman will run for the Democratic presidential nomination, Meyner replied "I don't think there is any doubt he will be considered in the running."

Meyner conceded that President Eisenhower is "very popular" in New Jersey and would win if the presidential election were held today. But he said the Democrats can win in 1956, depending on "economic circumstances" and "the issues that are developed."

The 26 Republican governors attending the four-day conference were reported solidly behind President Eisenhower as the GOP's presidential candidate in 1956.

Most of the 26 Democratic governors attending appeared to be backing Stevenson for another try at the presidency. But there were some reservations and the name of Harriman kept popping up.

Politics was not on the official agenda of the conference and Harriman was the only one of the three possible candidates who was scheduled to attend.

But Stevenson's presence in Chicago was felt and he was slated to meet with a number of the Democratic governors during the meeting. Two of his top supporters, Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago and former national party chairman Stephen Mitchell, had already weighed in with pro-Stevenson statements.

Two Runs by Fire Department

The city fire department extinguished the flames on a burning coal ramp at the old Peabody 43 mine site early today.

The ramp, operated by Night Patrolman Earl Estes, who informed Fire Chief L. G. Martin. A run was made to the ramp and the fire was extinguished. Its origin was undetermined.

Chief Martin said that damage was estimated at approximately $500.

Another run was made at 7:20 a. m., to the Allen service station on West Poplar street. There an overheated emergency brake on a Harrisburg Ice Co. truck was smoking.

Light Voting for State's Attorney

Saline county was voting today to name a state's attorney to fill out the term which ends the first Monday in December, 1956.

Harriman Seeks Ike Defeat if He Seeks Re-Election

NEW YORK — Gov. Averell Harriman predicted Monday night that President Eisenhower will be defeated if he seeks re-election despite his personal popularity.

Harriman, himself considered a possible Democratic candidate for the presidency, said in a radio interview that the President has retained his popularity because of an ability to "disassociate himself with his associates."

"But," the governor said, "when it comes to a campaign, it's impossible for a candidate to divorce himself from his associates. Harriman said an Eisenhower re-election bid would be unsuccessful because of "the failures of the people around him."

"The people are swinging away from the Republican party and therefore will swing away from the leader of that party when election time comes next year," Harriman said.

Test Fingernail Scrapings of Slain Socialite

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — FBI experts made extensive tests today to learn if scrapings from under the fingernails of murdered socialite Mrs. Wilma Allen would confirm the theory that she was slain by a light-skinned Negro.

Police said matter removed from the victim's fingernails was believed to contain particles of skin from the body of the killer.

The woman, the wife of William A. Allen Jr., a wealthy automobile dealer, disappeared Thursday. Her body was found Sunday in an isolated pasture about 15 miles outside Kansas City.

Clues at the scene where the body was found indicated the woman fought a fierce battle for life with the man, or men, who murdered her.

The only indication of the killer's identity was provided by the operator of a service station located near where the body was found.

The service station operator, Richard R. Seward, 31, told police he was "reasonably sure" an automobile similar to one owned by Mrs. Allen drove into his station on Thursday.

He said the driver was a light-skinned Negro wearing a small mustache.

Seward said he was approaching the car when the driver suddenly swerved around and sped away. He said he watched the car until it turned off a side road and parked in a field. At dusk that same day he said he noticed the car was still in the field.

Mrs. Allen's blood spattered car was found abandoned under a Kansas City viaduct on Friday. But it bore evidence—tangled weeds matted under it—that it had been driven through a pasture.

Open Bids for Tate, Rector Township Road Materials

Bids were opened this morning by the Road and Bridge committee of the Saline County Board of Supervisors for road materials to be used on township roads in Tate and Rector. The letting was made at the office of R. D. Brown, county superintendent of highways.

Low bidders were:
For Rector township: Gravel, Frank Stout and Roy Vaughn, $1.46 per ton. Culvert materials, Egyptian Concrete Co.

For Tate township: Gravel, L. J. Woodard, $1.80 per ton. Culvert materials, Armo Drainage and Metal Products Co.

Present from the Road and Bridge committee were Howard Patterson of Tate township and Kenneth Jackson of Long Branch township.

Even Wrong Number Proves Effectiveness Of Register Ads

Sunday was an extremely warm and uncomfortable day. To have to answer the telephone repeatedly and get only "wrong number" calls is enough to provoke the patience of a saint. Rev. Fr. T. G. Bruns was putting it mildly.

We can imagine, when he let The Register classified ad department know that people call him all day Sunday wanting a ride to Michigan, and that there is no doubt in his mind as to how effective Register classified ads are.

The number in the ad was 480, and the Rectory phone is 408. Sorry Father Bruns that the memory of our readers is so faulty—maybe it was the heat!

Says Sergeant Hurlled 2 Fellow POWs to Death

Testifies Prisoners Thrown from Barracks In Sub-Zero Cold

NEW YORK (AP) — A witness testified today that he saw Sgt. James C. Gallagher mistreat two fellow American prisoners of war in Korea and throw them to their deaths in the sub-zero cold.

Sgt. Donell Adams, 27, of Cottonwood, Ala., testifying at Gallagher's court martial on charges of murder and collaborating with the Communists, said the 23-year-old Brooklyn soldier dumped the two dying men through a barracks door like a bartender bouncing a drunk.

The two victims were identified as Cpl. John William Jones of Detroit and Cpl. Donald Thomas Baxter of Waukon, Iowa. The incidents allegedly occurred in prisoner-of-war camp No. 5 in Pyoktong, North Korea, in February, 1951.

As Adams offered his dramatic testimony in the sixth day of the court martial, Jones' mother, Mrs. Loretta Jones, and his sister, Mrs. Zenith Tucker, sat in the courtroom staring intently at the witness, their lips set in grim lines.

At one point in his testimony, Adams left the witness stand and stooped to the courtroom floor in a demonstration how Gallagher allegedly picked his sick and groaning victims from the barracks floor and carried them to the door.

A second witness, Sgt. Edward T. Smith, 24, Fresno, Calif., now stationed in Toule, France, corroborated most of the testimony given by Adams. He said Gallagher grabbed the ailing prisoners and tossed them from the room "like a sack of spuds."

Smith testified that it was 40 degrees below zero outside at the time.

Asked when he saw the two men again, Smith said it was the next day when he saw them being carried on a stretcher to the camp's "death house."

"They were dead," he said. "They were frozen solid."

Adams testified, under questioning by Asst. Trial Counsel L. E. Erwin B. Drucker, that he was in a room next to the one in which Gallagher, Adams and Baxter were quartered. The partition between the two rooms had been torn down. Adams said he had an unobstructed view of the beds where the two victims lay, suffering from dysentery and exposure and unable to move. He himself was in a similar condition, Adams testified.

Schools in County To Open Sept. 1

All schools in the county will open their 1955-56 terms the same day—Thursday, Sept. 1—it was announced today by C. R. Gardner, county superintendent of schools.

Mr. Gardner said that a teachers' meeting for rural teachers only will be held at 9 a. m. Wednesday, Aug. 31, in the Harrisburg high school auditorium, at which necessary information will be given them and supplies will be handed out.

No changes in textbooks are contemplated for this year, Mr. Gardner states. Book lists are now in the hands of county book dealers.

To Graduate Friday

Miss Ruth Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noble Williams of Galatia, will graduate from Southern Illinois university Friday evening, Aug. 12, at 7 o'clock. She majored in physical education and will teach at the Norris City high school this coming fall.

Shoemaker To Decide Tonight Whether To Accept $32,000 or Try to Double It

NEW YORK — Bronx cobbler Gino Prato will decide tonight whether to keep $32,000 he has won on a television show or attempt to double it in his final appearance before the cameras.

The temptation to try for the biggest jackpot in radio-television history was great because the opera-loving shoemaker no longer was under pressure.

Win or lose he no longer has to worry about his financial future and a visit to his aged father in Italy already has been assured. Those were the two big factors which might have persuaded 55-year-old Prato to think about keeping the money.

But Prato announced Monday that his now-famous appearances on television's biggest giveaway program, "The $64,000 Question," have won him a big-paying job and the promise of two free round-trip tickets to Italy.

As an added bonus, the Metropolitan Opera Association has presented the smiling opera expert with season passes for two of the best seats in the house.

Prato said he has been given a

To Revive Ancient Custom at Dedication Of Ferné Clyffe State Park Aug. 17

Reviving an ancient Egyptian custom of libation, two pitchers of water—one each from the Mississippi and Ohio rivers—will be poured out in a ceremony dedicating Ferné Clyffe State Park at Goreville on Wednesday, Aug. 17, at 6:15 p. m.

The ceremony, sponsored by Greater Egypt Association, according to President B. J. Murrie of Carbondale, is in connection with the annual meeting of the Southern Illinois Fox Hunters Association, Inc. at the park, with several thousand persons attending the four-day camp—August 15-18.

Senator Homer Butler of Marion will be master of ceremonies, which will pay tribute to the late Miss Emma Rehm—former owner of the park who passed title to Greater Egypt Association while it was being made a state park.

The Illinois Department of Public Parks will be represented on the program by Superintendent Robert Miles of Harrisburg and William D. MacLeod of Carbondale will represent the Highway Department.

President Delyte W. Morris of Southern Illinois university will be represented. Congressmen and other state and federal officials have been invited for the occasion.

Brad Durham, Goreville, will welcome the crowd at the short ceremony, which will close promptly at 7:15 in order for the scheduled activities of the Fox Hunters association to get under way with their religious, social, athletic stunts, contests and dog attractions—with prizes totaling many hundreds of dollars.

Other organizations and personalities to be introduced will be Goffrey Hughes, executive director of Southern Illinois Incorporated, past

Chandler Conceded Kentucky Victor In Cool Statements

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Bert T. Combs and his administration backers, in tersely worded telegrams and statements today conceded the Democratic party's gubernatorial nomination to former Baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler and pledged his support in the general election.

With Combs trailing by about 20,000 votes with less than 1,000 precincts still unreported, Combs and other administration leaders acknowledged defeat in correct but cool statements.

Combs sent a telegram to Chandler saying, "Congratulations and best wishes. You and other Democratic nominees have my full support in the coming general election."

Gov. Lawrence W. Wetherby at the same time issued a statement that "I have always supported the nominees of my party and I shall do that this November."

From Sen. Earle C. Clements came a statement that "I extend my best wishes . . . my services in any capacity are available . . ."

These admissions of defeat, made as workmen dismantled Combs' headquarters, wrote an end to one of Kentucky's bitterest, primary fights. Wetherby and Clements especially were targets of Chandler's most acid speeches, and remained to be seen how warm would be the support pledged to Chandler by administration leaders when he runs against Republican nominee Edwin R. Denny in November.

Giant Hurricane Ominously Close To Carolina Coast

WILMINGTON, N. C. — The first high tides and pounding surf kicked up by a giant hurricane 500 miles off the Florida east coast slapped against the Atlantic Seaboard today.

Hurricane Connie, a roaring fury of 135-mile-an-hour winds, was located about 450 miles east of Jacksonville, Fla., by a noon EDT advisory issued by the Miami Weather Bureau. It was headed north-northwest on a course that paralleled Florida-Georgia coastline.

Red and black hurricane flags were ordered hoisted all along the North Carolina and Virginia coasts.

The U. S. Weather Bureau warned that winds would reach hurricane force of at least 75 miles an hour on the Carolina and Virginia coasts by tonight or Wednesday morning.

Mindful of the killing impact of last year's hurricanes that ravaged the Atlantic coastline, residents already were beginning to take Connie seriously although she was at least a day away.

Rocket Plane Explodes, Pilot Averts Disaster

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. — A research pilot in the world's fastest rocket plane was credited today with averting a possible disaster when his high-powered plane exploded in the belly of its "mother ship."

The rocket pilot, Joseph A. Walker, 34, saved himself and the bomber's seven crewmen from possible death Monday when the rocket plane exploded seconds before its scheduled release nearly six miles off this desert flight center. All the fliers were civilians conducting flight tests for the National Advisory Commission for Aeronautics.

The one million dollar X-1A, which holds the world's speed record of 1,650 miles per hour as well as the world's altitude mark of 90,000 feet, had to be jettisoned for fear a second explosion might destroy the bomber. The rocket plane crashed in the desert as "probable a total loss," but the bomber landed safely.

Walker, in the rocket ship when it exploded, exercised "great coolness" in cutting off switches to prevent any further explosions. He also emptied some of the highly-explosive rocket fuel before escaping into the bomber's bomb-bay.

Walker also came close to death when he disconnected his oxygen supply to escape the rocket plane. He fell unconscious from lack of oxygen and was pulled up to safety by the bomber's crew. Death can occur in a few minutes without oxygen at high altitude.

Pieces torn from the small craft by the blast struck a following F86 jet "chaser" plane, flown by Major Arthur J. Murray, who set the altitude record in the X-1A. Murray said pieces struck his plane "like shrapnel" and cracked its windshield.

After the explosion, Murray flew close to the rocket plane and warned the bomber that all of the small ship's fuel had not been completely emptied. It was then that the rocket plane was jettisoned.

Major Charles Yeager set the world speed record in the X-1A in November of 1953.

China Delays Prisoner Talks

GENEVA — Red China called today for a 24-hour delay of the next meeting with the United States on the deadlocked issue of repatriation of 41 American civilians now detained behind the Bamboo Curtain.

The United States agreed to set the meeting over until Thursday. It had been announced, following Monday's unproductive session, that the talks between U. S. Ambassador to Czechoslovakia U. Alexis Johnson, and China's ambassador to Poland, Wang Ping-nan, would be held Wednesday.

American sources said Wang claimed that communications difficulties with Peiping necessitated the delay.

Conference sources said Johnson still is awaiting a satisfactory reply to the detention of 41 American civilians in Red China. Of that number, 25 are in jail and the remainder either are under arrest or have been denied exit visas.

The United States has taken the position that other Far Eastern issues cannot be discussed until the issue of repatriation of civilians is disposed of.

Five Soldiers, Two Officers Are Injured

17 Americans Hurt In Five Days of Demonstrations

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Hundreds of screaming Koreans attacked the U. S. Army compound on Wolmi-do island in waves early today in an attempt to kidnap Communist members of a neutral nations inspection team.

The Koreans, demonstrating for the fifth straight day, surged across an 800-yard-long causeway connecting the island with Inchon and tore up the U. S. Army guard shack before they were beaten back.

The two-pronged Korean attack began shortly after midnight. Five American soldiers and two officers were injured as the ROKs hurled stones, bottles and other debris. They were repulsed when the Army used tear gas and fired carbines over their heads.

The Army identified the seven injured men as Capt. John C. Russell, Knoxville, Tenn.; 2nd Lt. Clyde D. St. Romaine, New Orleans, La.; P.S.3. Lon D. Nichol, Keokuk, Iowa; Pvt. Bruno A. Ayaoli, Kahuku, Oahu, Hawaii; S.F.C. Herbert Kellum, Baltimore, Md.; P.E.C.2. Ralph J. Pepekka, Shawano, Wis.; A.O.2. William B. Martin, Martinsville, Va.

Seventeen Americans injured. National police reported nine Koreans were injured in the fifth day of demonstration that brought to 17 the number of Americans injured in the riots.

Korean press reports said the campaign to storm the island would be reinforced this afternoon by 1,500 railway workers and that 3,000 war veterans would join the demonstrators there Wednesday.

Col. Winston Butcher of Coral Gables, Fla., troop commander on Wolmi-do, ordered particular attention to boatloads of 200 tough, anti-Communist ex-war prisoners circling the island.

The U. S. Army denied rumors it had evacuated the true members—charged by the Koreans with being Communist spies—but sent crack 7th Division frontline combat troops to its besieged compounds.

Wolmi-do was the fifth U. S. post to be attacked in five days of anti-Communist demonstrations that quickly turned into rioting against American troops. The government-inspired attacks were part of a drive to oust the Communist commission members by Saturday.

Fresh Trouble Expected

Elsewhere thousands of Koreans laid siege to other U. S. Army compounds housing neutral true teams at Taegu, Kusan and Kangnung. Fresh trouble was expected there and at Pusan where six GIs were injured in an attack Monday.

The Republic of Korea has given the Communists until Saturday to get out of the country. Swiss and Swedish members of the commission are not affected.

The Republic of Korea has charged the Czech and Polish members of the U. N. supervisory commission have been working as Communist spies gathering information for the Reds.

The chief delegates to the four nation commission scheduled a meeting at Panmunjom Wednesday to discuss South Korean demands the commission leave the country.

Korean newspapers have reported that the Swedes and Swiss were willing to withdraw and were awaiting instructions from their governments.

Gardner, Murphy To Attend Meeting to Interpret School Laws

C. R. Gardner, Saline county superintendent of schools, and John Murphy, assistant superintendent, will attend a meeting at Champaign-Urbana Thursday and Friday which has been called by Vernon L. Nickell, state superintendent of public instruction to acquaint new and incumbent county superintendents with the official interpretation of new school legislation passed by the general assembly this year.

Among those on the program will be Superintendent Nickell; C. C. Byerly, first assistant superintendent; Mr. Nickell; and N. E. Hudson, legal adviser on Mr. Nickell's staff.

Mr. Gardner's office in the court house will be open during their absence.

Throttling Down a Notch

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
Some alarm has been shown in recent weeks over the great expansion in consumer credit, which is feeding the country's record business boom. So now the government has acted to put the brakes on in one important field — home-buying.

The steps were not severe. Veterans who up to now have been able to buy homes without a down payment will hereafter be required to put at least 2 per cent down.
Purchases under FHA will call for a 7 per cent down payment instead of the present 5 per cent.

Both the Veterans Administration and FHA reduced the maximum loan for repaying a mortgage term from the present 30 to 25 years.

Indications from builders are that this tightening will affect the housing market. Authorities had concluded that under the old terms buying a house had become too easy and painless.

But the credit expansion, of course, goes far beyond the housing field. Installment sales covering a wide variety of products, from automobiles to household appliances to TV sets, have been pushing to new heights. Commercial bank loans to consumers rose about one billion dollars in the first half of 1955.

The total of consumer credit in all forms climbed to a record 31½ billion dollars in May of this year.

Some economic specialists have argued that there need be no great apprehension as this total rises, since the history of the country shows that the average American—the fellow who is piling up this monumental debt—is a superior credit risk. The percentage of defaulters is normally very very small.

Nevertheless, that same history suggests that if we would avoid serious ups and downs we must be particularly alert at the critical moment when a boom is soaring freely on credit wings. This is the time to show full resolve to control the upward spiral. For if credit is too easy, some people will overreach themselves. And that dangerous process can only go on so long. Then will come a heavy retrenchment that will affect us all.

There are many, many elements of stability in the economy which did not exist in the boom of the late 1920's. But there is no economy which is proof against unbridled, thoughtless expansion of credit.

In its housing action the government has taken beginning steps toward reasonable control of this boom. Raising the discount rates in some areas was another. Still more moves may be called for in the future. If the situation dictates, they should be made fearlessly, in the interest of the whole nation.

have more penetrating qualities.

Miss Bobbie Gass Crowned Queen At Gallatin County 4-H Fair

Closing event of the annual Gallatin county 4-H home economics and agriculture fair was the crowning of the Queen of the Fair, held Friday night in the Ridgeway high school gymnasium.

Miss Bobbie Gass, member of the Busy Fingers 4-H of Ridgeway, was crowned Queen, with coronation ceremonies presided over by Darla Mills, Queen of the 1954 Fair.

Queen Bobbie and members of her court were dressed in the 4-H colors — green skirts and white blouses.

Members of the Queen's Court were Diane Hendrix of the Cookie Dusters; Diana Howell of the Cottonwood Queens; Mary Patton of the Eagle Creek Home Ec; Jenny Lu Scates of the Maple Grove 4-H; Jo Dean McGhee of the Needle Work Netties; Virginia Stewart of the Shawneetown Sew-and-Sews; Mary Ellen Abell of the St. Patricks; Mary Beth Brockett of the Merry Maids; Janice Ande of the Triple E and Carol Kaufman of the 4-H Sunshines.

The Gallatin County 4-H Fair was a two-day affair, being held Thursday and Friday, Aug. 4 and 5, in Ridgeway. The fair started Thursday morning with the judging of clothing and continued until the coronation—the closing event Friday night.

The programs were in charge of Earl Lutz, farm adviser, Miss Mary Ann McCue, home adviser, and Dwight Mobley, youth adviser. Judges in the livestock events were E. Taylor, farm adviser of Pope-Hardin counties, and Chuck Ream, farm adviser of Johnson county. Max Downen judged the agricultural demonstrations. Mrs. Mary Harper, Saline county home adviser, and Miss Patsy Coulson, Edwards county home adviser, judged the clothing and Mrs. Phyllis Broadway, home adviser from Pope-Hardin counties, judged the foods.

Champions Named
The Grand Champion beef cow at the Gallatin county 4-H Show was shown by Jerry Cox of Omaha. Joyce Hale won championship honors with her Aberdeen Angus steer. The champion showman in the beef division was Richard Moore of Omaha. David Fromm won the highest honors in the dairy division when his Jersey cow was judged champion over all dairy animals. He was also selected as the best showman in the dairy division. Bobby Cox won a double championship in the swine division. His Hampshire gilt was judged the champion over all breeds in the show, and he received the Showmanship ribbon. The champion pen of chickens was shown by Jimmie Collins of Equality, and Steve Scates won the highest honors in the field crops division. The best vegetable exhibit was made by Robert Wargel of Ridgeway.

Winners in the agricultural demonstration contest were David Maloney and Raymond Lawler with their demonstration entitled, "Knee and Elbow Bandages." The second prize demonstration was given by Larry Wilson. The title of his demonstration was "Constructing a Door Bell."

Andy Downen, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Downen of Omaha, was the winner in the Tractor Operator's contest which was held on the Ridgeway Softball diamond Thursday afternoon.

Division Winners
"A" winners in the various divisions were as follows:

Expert Says U. S. Agriculture Aid to Russia Would Help Bring World Peace

NEW YORK (AP) — A top expert in foreign trade said today the United States can strike a blow for world peace by helping Russia improve agricultural production.

"It is usually hungry people and have-not nations that start wars," said Gottfried Neuberger, an official of a firm that sponsors international trade fairs and expositions.

"If people are satisfied," he said in an interview, "they won't go to war."
The 48-year-old, executive of International Trade Shows recently urged the Soviet Union to permit a U. S. trade exposition specializing in agriculture to be held in Moscow next summer.

That plan is said to be under "serious consideration" by Russian authorities.
"Such an agricultural exposition could trigger a movement which would see the instruments of war converted into the implements of agriculture," he said.

The exposition, if approved, would pave the way for the first major display of American products behind the Iron Curtain.
Neuberger's plan calls for top American companies in the fields of farm implements and machinery, irrigation, soil conservation and other facets of the over-all agricultural picture setting up major displays in Moscow.

"The exposition would include areas where the companies could demonstrate methods of improving crop yields or irrigating the soil," he added.

"The opportunity would be a tremendous one for American industry to open up a whole new export market behind the Iron Curtain."

Neuberger estimated there's a multi-million dollar market for American farm equipment of all kinds behind the Iron Curtain.

The German-born business man, who came to this country in 1927, noted that at present the Russians are intensely interested in American agricultural machinery and techniques, as evidenced by the Soviet delegation touring farm areas in the Midwest.

Also, he added, the Russians are seeking to send a group of their agricultural machinery experts to the United States to study American equipment and production methods.

WASHINGTON. — Basically the conflict-of-interest that forced Secretary of the Air Force Talbott out of the cabinet is also what poisons the political bloodstream through the lobbies of Washington.

There is hardly a senator or congressman in Washington who does not have a conflict of interest. He has to choose whether he will serve the people who voted for him or the big campaign contributors who put up the money to win those votes.

Talbott was serving two masters — the Air Force and his own private company which sought juicy contracts to do personnel engineering for manufacturers of Air Force equipment.

But when northern congressmen voted for a natural gas bill to increase the price to northern housewives, yet simultaneously failed to pass a badly needed school bill, many of them were voting because money had been poured into their campaigns or their party's campaigns by the gas-oil-utility lobby.

means "tail."

like a hot potato and almost kissed him on the cheek when he left the witness stand.

Perhaps this complacency was because of the nagging knowledge that nearly every senator and congressman likewise is caught in a "conflict of interests" almost as serious as that which trapped Talbott.

Reason is the cost of being elected to high office. The 1950 Republican senatorial primary in Pennsylvania, for instance, cost the two sides a total of $1,170,000.
The Democratic primary in Florida that year was estimated by the St. Petersburg Times as costing $2,000,000.

Where do these huge sums come from? Not from average voters but from men with special favors to get from government — utility magnates, oil kings, liquor cartels, timber moguls, railroad bosses. The so-called "limit" of $5,000 per candidate is violated repeatedly by attributing each $5,000 to a different member of the don-or's family. Some infants have given $5,000 to major candidates before the infant was out of the bassinet!

The voters seldom know all this.
They realize vast sums are spent on TV, radio, signboards, brochures, and paid workers, but they don't know the source of the money. Yet a "conflict of interest" is created, just as definitely as in the case of Secretary Talbott. Can Senator Butler of Maryland, for instance, vote impartially on a bill to increase the price of natural gas when he received $10,000 in campaign money from oil-gas tycoon (Clint Murchison and Jack Murchison) and $5,000 from Jack Porter of Houston?

LABOR FUNDS
Attorney General Brownell has ordered grand jury investigations of spending by the United Automobile Workers in the 1954 election in Michigan. The theory is that funds used here were from union general funds in violation of the Taft-Hartley act when Senator Pat McNamara appeared as a guest of the auto workers' program.

It is, of course, just as possible for labor to be a special interest as industry. Yet it's almost impossible for a trade union to conceal its contribution, while the corporations conceal them in every campaign. They merely pay a big bonus to some executive or lawyer, who in turn contributes this bonus to the campaign kitty of some politician who is running the corporation's errands in public life.

This loophole is not available to unions.

The entire situation has riddled Congress with so many "conflicts of interest" just as reprehensible as Talbott's, that many administrative officials, like Talbott, wonder why they must be above suspicion when their accusers in Congress are so saddled with financial obligations.

WHAT'S THE REMEDY?

Three members of the U. S. Senate have been advocating reforms, as follows:

No. 1: Senator Tom Hennings, Democrat of Missouri — is pushing a law to tighten the reporting of election campaign contributions so the general public will know who the small group of financial contributors are who influence policy for 160,000,000 people. Although Hennings' bill was acted upon favorably by the Senate Rules committee, almost solid Republican opposition left it high and dry as Congress adjourned.

No. 2: Senator Wayne Morse, Democrat of Oregon — introduced a bill at my suggestion in 1947, requiring every member of Congress to declare his net worth and all other sources of annual income.
The immediate motive behind the Morse bill in 1947 was this col-our's exposure of the cotton speculations of Senator Elmer Thomas, Oklahoma Democrat, when he was chairman of the Senate Agriculture committee. Morse re-introduced this bill this year.

No. 3: Morse's young colleague, Senator Dick Neuberger — has been reviving a proposal which Teddy Roosevelt first made in 1908 and which later was pushed by George Killian, treasurer of the Democratic National committee.
Teddy recommended that both major parties receive their campaign financing out of the U. S. Treasury and that private donations be barred.

No. 4: Phillip Graham, publisher of the Washington Post and Times-Herald — urges a system of small donations from average citizens. He points out that sums of from $1 to perhaps $50 or $100 never could put a candidate under such severe obligation that he would violate his convictions or his oath of office. It is when the donations soar to the $5,000 figure and over that a candidate becomes saddled with the "conflict of interests."

In the lingo of the oil fields, a "doghouse" is a toolhouse located near a derrick.

Death Has 3 Lives by Brett Halliday

Mike Shayne took the letter, which was in Lucy Hamilton's handwriting, and read:

I tried my hand at being a detective and played the fool. This may well be my very last love letter sent to you for a long time. Probably forever. I am held prisoner by a murderer and my escape is almost hopeless from this unoccupied, airtight cellar. I'll either starve or suffocate in here with Arlene Bristow unless you help me. Do not do anything to hurt this man. You must try to find the seventy thousand which he believes you have. The mazuma, or both we girls will be dead. Please, please realize, Mike, that I love only you—even to the very end. Lucy

In the middle of Mike Shayne's living room stacks and stacks of new, crisp bills were counted, ranged over the surface of a table. And a discarded money-belt of dark leather lay on the floor.

And on the table lay the crumpled sheet of paper on which Lucy Hamilton had written her message to Michael Shayne under the direction of the man who was now dead.

Chief of Police Will Gentry and Timothy Rourke sat at Lucy Hamilton's thin fingers were counting the crisp bills in their stacks of various denominations. Will Gentry was settled solidly in a comfortable chair. His glance kept going back casually to the stacks of bills on the table and the counting job that Tim Rourke was doing, but mostly his attention was centered on the restless figure of Michael Shayne, pacing back and forth the length of the room monotonously.

For perhaps the tenth time during the half hour that the three of them had been together there, Chief Gentry reminded the redhead patiently: "You can't blame Loftus and Powell for Switzer getting killed, Mike. If you had trusted us a little more they would have been glad to hold back and let you grab him alive. They didn't know you were there."

"And I didn't guess they would be there either," countered Shayne, "so for perhaps the tenth time. 'I had no reason to believe any of you would realize that Switzer might hear the broadcast and come to the conclusion that Bristow had ditched the money behind the cushion of Agnew's taxi after he was wounded and being driven to Lucy's place.'"

"Any sensible person who heard the broadcast," said Gentry, "would immediately think of that as a possibility. The way Bristow made a point of getting Agnew's name and number. Why else would he do that except that he planned to hide the money there and hoped to recover it later? Then when you and Tim put in that stuff about Agnew being on call any time at night for special trips in his cab, it was a definite invitation for Switzer to use that method of getting at the money."

"All right," agreed Shayne savagely. "So, you've made the point that you cops were as smart. And you sent Loftus and his sidekick out to see if Agnew did get a call. There was still no reason why they had to blow the top of his head off before he could be forced to tell us where he had Lucy and the Bristow girl hidden out." He stopped beside the table and put his forefinger down hard on the message Lucy had written to him. "Read that again. Right at this moment, two innocent girls may be breathing their last breath in the cellar of a deserted house. Only one man in the world could have saved them, and one of your trigger-happy goons kills him."

"I know how you feel about Lucy, Mike," Gentry tried to soothe him. "But you've got to take it easy. She'll be rescued all right. You know what we're doing. Right now, I've got every available man on the force working over every vacated house in Miami that we have listed in our files. Tomorrow the papers will carry a story about Lucy and Arlene, urging every resident of Miami to communicate with us at once the location of any vacant house in their vicinity. We'll have Lucy and the Bristow girl safe and sound tomorrow afternoon."

"If they're still alive by that time," said Shayne. He picked up Lucy's note and read from it:

"I am held prisoner by a murderer and my escape is almost hopeless from this unoccupied, airtight cellar."

"An airtight cellar, Will. What makes you think they'll last until tomorrow afternoon?"

Timothy Rourke finished his counting of the bills taken from the money-belt Shayne had found hidden behind the rear-seat cushion in Joe Agnew's taxi. "Roughly 74 thousand, I make it. No basement is actually airtight, Mike. There's always enough air seeping in to keep a person alive. If you're so eager to find them," the reporter went on caustically "why don't you develop the theory you had that Lucy had somehow incorporated a secret message in code in this note to you?"

Shayne glared down at the note in his hand. "I know it's here in front of our eyes, and we're all missing it. 'Dearest Boss' he read aloud harshly. "Lucy never called me either Dearest or Boss in her life. That's phony. And 'This may well be my very last love letter.' Lucy never has written me a love letter before. So, how could this be the last one?"

Heroic Cocker Receives Prize for Saving Master, 3

CHICAGO (AP) — Taffy, a little cocker spaniel who saved her 3-year-old master from drowning in the icy waters of an Idaho lake, today received a $1,000 bond prize from America's most heroic dog of 1955.

Taffy was rewarded by a dog food company, Ken-L-Ration, for refusing to let the life of his master, Stevie Wilson of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, slip away in the waters of Fernan Lake last April.

Stevie and Taffy had wandered to the edge of the lake and the little boy slipped into four feet of ice-cold water.

Taffy, reacting instantly, raced to Stevie's father, Perry. But the father didn't understand and Taffy ran back, springing into the water and trying to save the drowning boy.

Once again, Taffy dashed back to the water. Wilson, seeing the dog's wet coat, raced to the lake and saw his son's coat floating on the water. The father sprang in and recovered the unconscious boy in time.

Mexican Artist Treated for Cancer

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Diego Rivera, 73, noted Mexican artist, disclosed Monday that he is being treated for cancer.

Rivera, whose militant leftist politics have provoked almost as much controversy as his murals, said he is under treatment by American and Mexican physicians and expects to enter a hospital within 10 to 15 days.

"Yes, I have cancer," Rivera said in an interview. "Cancer is always serious and I'll probably die of it. But that's nothing to be in a bad humor about."

He answered "of course," when asked if he would continue painting.

Pontiac, Michigan Home Towners Meet The Home Towners Club of Pontiac, Mich., held its last meeting at the home of Mrs. Hattie Sweet.

After a short business meeting games were played and prizes awarded to Shirley Molsinger, Janet Keys, Mary Sweet, Drucilla Murphy, and the door prize went to Maxine Hamby.

Later in the evening refreshments were served to Guylene Alexander, Joan Wilkins, Drucilla Murphy, Mary Sweet, Maxine Hamby, Shirley Molsinger, Janet Keys and the hostess Hattie Sweet.

Mary Sweet will entertain the club at her home at the next meeting.

Miss Joan Seright, daughter of Mrs. Catharine Seright, returned Saturday from Syracuse, Ind., where she attended a two-week twirling and drum majorette school.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Batchelder and daughter, Frances, of Springfield are spending a week's vacation in Harrisburg. Miss Batchelder formerly taught in the Junior high school here.

Navy Board to Review Denial Of Commission

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Navy Charles Thomas has announced that a special board of officers will review the case of Eugene W. Landy, who was denied a reserve commission because his mother was once a Communist.

Thomas said that Landy, a Merchant Marine honor graduate, will receive "a fair and impartial hearing" and that he personally will review the board's findings.

Congress may also take up the case. Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.) said his Senate Commerce Committee will investigate the matter in January if it isn't "cleared up" before Congress reconvenes.

As it stands, Magnuson said, the case "is a proper subject for inquiry."

Landy was graduated last Friday from the Merchant Marine Academy, Kings Point, N. Y., but was denied a Navy reserve commission on security grounds.

The 21-year-old midshipman sailed Sunday aboard a tanker to earn $400 needed for schooling.

Second in his class of '96, he plans to study admiralty law at Yale University.

Landy's mother has stated that her "Kaffee-Klatch" membership in the party was ended largely because of the opposition of her three sons.

"He is not responsible for the activities of his mother," Magnuson said, "and we hope the Navy will look at all the facts."

Predicts Cheap A-Power by U. S. Plants by 1975

GENEVA (AP) — An American atom scientist told the Atoms-for-Peace Congress here today that U. S. atomic power plants will be producing power cheaply enough by 1975 that an American housewife will be able to use it to fry the breakfast eggs.

Present experimental use of atomic power to generate electricity, he said, indicates that nuclear plants will be producing electricity as cheaply in 15 to 20 years as coal, oil or water power.

"The outlook for a large scale nuclear power in the United States is very promising," James A. Lane, of the Oak Ridge National Laboratory in Tennessee told the international meeting of nuclear scientists.

The congress also heard a detailed and glowing account by the Soviet Union of Russia's progress in developing atomic power plants. But Russia hinted that development of peaceful atomic power was being slowed by the production of atomic bombs.

Miss Myra Jean Burnam, Alfred James Miller Wed in Candlelight Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred James Miller (Ronnie's Studio Photo)

Baskets of white gladioli, majestic daisies and jade and emerald greenery decorated the white altar for the candlelight wedding ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Myra Jean Burnam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Wylie Burnam, 128 West O'Gara, and Alfred James Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louie Miller of Carrier Mills.

The double ring service took place Saturday, July 30, at 8 p. m. at the First Methodist church with the Rev. W. L. Cummins officiating.

The bride chose for her wedding a floor length gown of chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin worn over hoops and crinolines and designed with a yoke of silk illusion with a mandarin collar trimmed with pearls and crystals. The long sleeves of lace tapered over the hand with tiny satin buttons at the wrists. Satin buttons also closed the tight fitting bodice in the back. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a tiara of pearls and crystals, and she carried a bridal bouquet of white carnations and stephanotis centered with a white orchid and satin streamers.

Miss Shirley Karnes, close friend of the bride, was maid of honor, wearing a strapless mulberry nylon net over taffeta fashioned with a fitted bodice and bouffant skirt worn over crinoline. She wore about her shoulders a matching bolero with short sleeves and a head band of nylon net with pearl trim. Her colonial bouquet was of white lace and bronze and white shasta daisies.

Bridesmaid was Miss Margaret Ann Brashear who was dressed identically as the maid of honor.

Little Chris Miller, sister of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She was dressed in a floor length gown of yellow organza with dainty puffed sleeves and a high neckline, and also wore a yellow net headband covered with tiny yellow rosebuds. She carried a white basket with yellow streamers and sprinkled rose petals in the path of the bride. Don Smith of Pontiac, Mich., was best man to the bridegroom, David Burnam, brother of the bride, was groomsmen and Jerry Beasley and Ron Culbreth of Carrier Mills, served as ushers.

Mrs. Robert Norman accompanied Mrs. Elvie Gideumb who sang "The Lord's Prayer," "O Promise Me" and "My Wonderful One."

Mrs. Burnam chose for her daughter's wedding a dress of navy lace with pink accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Miller also was dressed in navy with white accessories and wore a corsage of white carnations.

A reception followed the wedding at Wesley Center where a lovely pink and white three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom centered the bride's table. The cake was encircled with pink sweet peas. Serving as hostesses were Mrs. C. E. Wing, Mrs. Mark Burnam, Mrs. Paul Burnam, Mrs. B. F. Fearheiley, Mrs. Floyd Powell, Mrs. Willie Chase and Mrs. C. L. Baker. Assisting were Miss June Blackard, Miss Mary Taylor, Miss Sherry Hensley, Miss Eugenia Golliber and Miss Jean Abney.

The bride is a graduate of the Harrisburg Township high school with the class of 1954 and the bridegroom graduated from the Carrier Mills high school, also with the class of '54, and is a painter by occupation. They are now at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clark have sold their residence on North Webster street and have moved to Vandalia to be near their daughter, Mrs. M. S. McGlasson. Mr. Clark retired from his work around three years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Bolerjack, 512 North Granger, and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Anson of Park Forest, and their daughter, Marilee, have just returned from a vacation through Florida. They visited many places of interest and traveled through Birmingham, Ala., Atlanta, Ga., Tallahassee, Miami and Key West, Fla.

Mrs. Thomas O'Beirne and children, Michael and Alice, are visiting her father, S. M. Farrar, and Mrs. Farrar.

Calendar Of Meetings

No Democratic Program at State Fair

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Illinois Democrats will not have a political program at the state fair this year, Democratic State Chairman James A. Ronan announced today.

"Democratic Day" at the fair was scheduled Aug. 17.

"The Democratic Party this year will not have any speaking program or other activities in the grandstand before the afternoon races," Ronan said.

The fair opens Friday, and will run through Aug. 21.

The Republicans, with Gov. William G. Stratton and U. S. Sen. Everett R. Dirksen (R-Ill.) as top speakers, will hold their political "celebration on Governor's Day," Aug. 18.

LOST 16 LBS. WITH RENNEL RECIPES

LA GRANGE, ILL. "I am 53 years of age and all my life was bothered with constipation which I blame partly for my being overweight. I am very happy that Rennel Concentrate was recommended to me. I lost 16 lbs. and feel just wonderful. I used to weigh 150 lbs. and being only 5' 3" looked terrible. Now, thanks to the Rennel home recipe, I get lots of compliments. It is easy to reduce with Rennel. I cannot recommend Rennel enough. It's so good." So writes Mrs. John Kieb of 215 Woodlawn Ave. No starvation diets with Rennel. Results guaranteed.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H.® At your druggist. Money back guarantee. *Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

All-Star Game Now More Spectacle Than Contest; Will Draw 80,000

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor
CHICAGO (NEA)—For some years it has been clearly demonstrated that football's All-Star Game is no longer a true contest.

But there is no greater spectacle than the nationally televised big show under the lights of Soldier Field, and it once more will draw 80,000 spectators and a $300,000 gate on the night of Aug. 12, when the Cleveland Browns deploy against an outstanding collection of College All-Stars. In the 21 years since it was conceived by the late Arch Ward, this widely-ballyhooed production has contributed $1,500,000 to Chicago charities.

It's the kick-off of the football season, where football men meet to plan the campaign.

There has been talk of the series being abandoned, but the newspaper sponsoring it has a contract with the National Football League for four more years.

The timing is bad for the All-Stars because their job prospects in professional football are placed in jeopardy. They must take time out for the All-Star Game when they're busy trying to make good as money men.

They are reluctant to put out because of the risk of injury. This summer, for example, Gordon Malloy, the Miami of Florida back drafted by Detroit, suffered a knee injury that may end his football with the run in college.

Certainly, a football player can be hurt in practice anywhere, but they seem to feel better about being injured while bidding for work.

By now, everyone versed in football knows that the pros should never lose to the collegians.

In an effort to even things up, the Detroit Lions last August played college rules. That kept Bobby Layne on the bench, Buddy Parker not caring to expose his great passer and quarterback to the rigors of defense.

The result was just the opposite of what was hoped for, however, the pros turning out to be more adaptable at going both ways.

So free substitution, for which this game is ideally fitted, is back. The show's the thing, and unrestricted replacement lets the spectators see all the stars.

A college coaching staff superior to the one of a year ago would be hard to obtain. Assisting Jim Tatum of Maryland were Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson and Iowa's Forest Evashevski, but their hand-picked squad looked rather foolish trying to run from the split T against the Lions, who ran away and hid, 31-6.

Again seeking to give the collegians a break, professional coaches for the first time were named to drill them. They are Curly Lambeau, Hampton Pool, Hunk Anderson and Steve Owen.

The Browns are as efficient as ever despite the loss of the retired Otto Graham. Paul Brown has George Ratterman in the pitching slot and a lot of other guys to go with The Toe Groza.

There is no shortage of talent among the 49 All-Stars—from Amecche, Alan of Wisconsin, to Watkins, Bob of Ohio State. Lambeau and his aides hardly can complain about not having anyone to throw the ball. Among those present to do that are Ralph Guglielmi of Notre Dame, California's Paul Larson, Oregon's George Shaw and Ohio State's Dave Leggett.

There are pass-snatchers, runners like Dick Moegle of Rice and mammoth and mobile linemen.

But you can't beat organization in any line, especially in football, and the Browns have the properly assembled parts.

Cummins, Simmons Win Doubles Title at Open Tennis Tourney

Charles Cummins of Harrisburg teamed up with Ted Simmons, nationally ranked junior from St. Louis, to win the junior doubles title in the Southern Illinois open tennis tournament at Carbondale.

They beat Landberger and King of Olney in the finals, 6-4, 6-3.

In junior singles competition Cummins beat Dick King of Olney, 1-6, 6-4, 6-3, then was beaten by Simmons, 6-1, 6-1.

Legion Wins Two Games at Nashville, Tenn.

The Harrisburg Legion baseball team made the long trip to Nashville, Tenn., Sunday and won themselves a couple of ball games in the foes' own back yard. The Legion downed the strong, hard hitting Old Hickory Barons by an 8 to 6 score behind Bill McNew's eight-hit pitching and then went on to cop an easy win over the Nashville Cyclones, 12 to 1, on top of Don Wallace's one-hit pitching. This latter contest was abbreviated to six innings by darkness.

The Barons, playing all through the southeastern states, had compiled a 22 won and three lost record up to the time the Legion set them back for their fourth loss of the season. Bill McNew whiffed 11 of the Barons and his margin of victory would have been greater except for three errors by his teammates in the eighth which gifted the losers with two unearned markers. McNew struck out the first three men to face him in the first and almost duplicated the feat in the ninth by forcing the first batter to hit to him and then whiffing the final two batsmen.

Dick Odle and Harold Gulley with two hits each carried the brunt of the Legion's eight-hit offense with Merle Dailey, "Flash" Griffiths, Fred Williams and McNew coming through with other timely hits. Scoring was as follows for the Legion: two runs in the first inning, five in the sixth and a final tally in the ninth. The Barons scored twice in the third, once in each the fourth and sixth innings and twice in the eighth. Dick Romanosky caught all the way for the winners. Woods and Black did the pitching for the Barons with P. Woods catching.

In the second contest, Don Wallace took the wind out of the Cyclones and the locals had an easy time of it after crashing through for seven runs in the first two frames. Wallace limited the losers to a lone hit in the second inning and whiffed seven of them in the abbreviated contest.

"Flash" Griffiths paced the Legion's offense in this fracas with three hits for three tries at the plate. Odle, Williams and Gulley had two hits each with Bob Dallas, Bill Hull and Wallace picking up the rest. Frank Logsdon was Wallace's receiver all the way in this game.

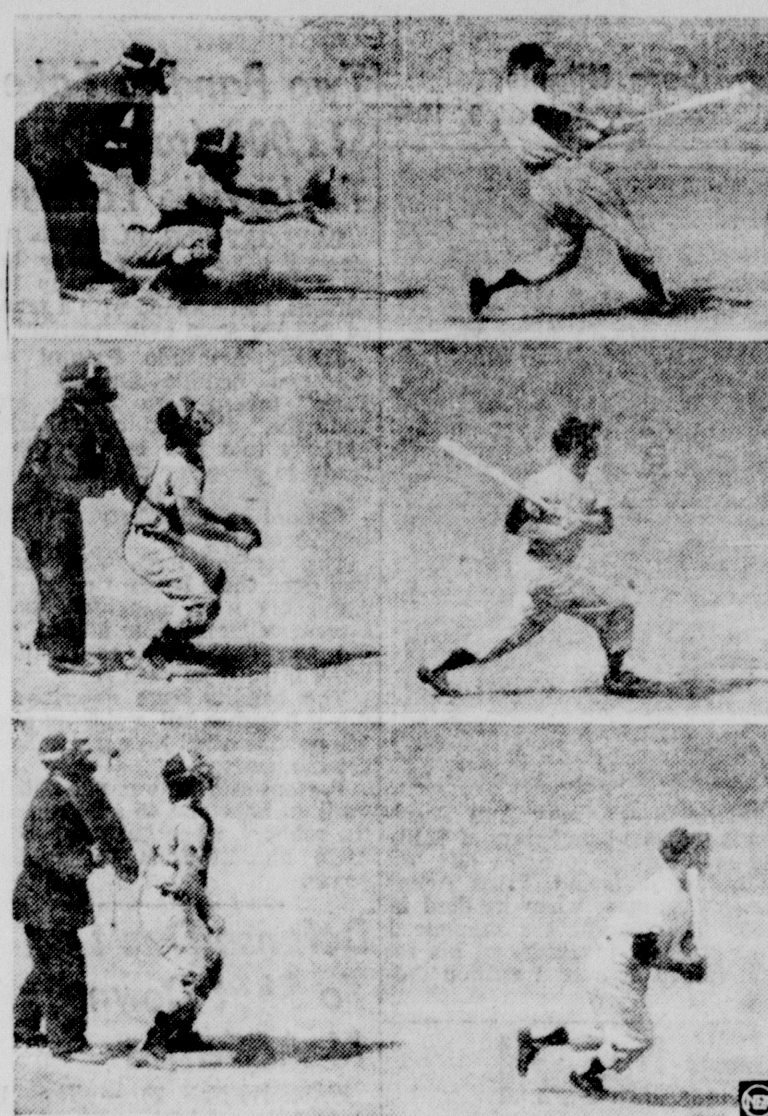

Next Sunday, the Legion will entertain the Uniontown (Ky.) Cardinals here at the park diamond. The Cardinals feature Big Jim Bumpus on the mound and according to their own boast have "the best team in the Tri-State."

DX, Nick's, Jukes and Dodgers Win Games in Kiwanis League Play

By DAVID NELSON

DX downed Sahara, 11-1; Nick's Cafe defeated Sugar Creek, 16-7; the Golph Jukes beat VFW, 12-8; and the Dodgers crushed Dairy Brand, 14-4, in Kiwanis league games played Tuesday.

Reid pitched a three-hitter as DX downed Sahara, 11-1. The winners tallied eight runs in the first and three in the fourth, and Sahara scored once in the second.

Reid gave up one run on three hits and two walks while striking out seven. Hansen, on the hill for Sahara, allowed 11 runs on 11 hits, five errors and three bases on balls, while striking out two of the opposing batters.

Dowdy led DX at bat with two doubles and a single. Reid picked up a homer and a double. King singled twice, and Thompson, J. Wathen, D. Wathen and Hefner hit safely once each. Hansen, Yarber and Cline had one hit each for Sahara.

Seten tossed a four-hitter as Nick's defeated Sugar Creek, 16-7. The winners scored three times in the third, four in the fourth and two in the fifth, sixth and seventh. The losers tallied one run each in the second, third and fourth and four in the fifth.

Seten allowed seven runs on four hits, nine errors and seven bases on balls. Hegglin and Wilson, on the hill for Sugar Creek, gave up 16 runs on eight hits, four errors and 10 free passes.

Cline, Griffith and Seten collected two hits apiece for Nick's and Maszaros and Salus hit safely once each. For Sugar Creek Hegglin

Stengel Declares Yankees Weakest He Has Managed, But Says They Will Win Flag

By United Press
A dejected Casey Stengel hinted today that this is the weakest Yankee club he has ever managed but he insisted it's still strong enough to beat all the other contenders.

"I've never seen such poor hitting in all the time I've been here," Stengel said. "The team average is around .250 and the pitching ain't nothing to rave about, either. But bad as everything is, I still figure we can beat 'em all—if we start to play ball."

Stengel's remarks came as the Yankees, only three percentage points behind the first place White Sox, were about to launch a crucial three-game series with the fourth-place Red Sox, who are only 1-2 games off the pace themselves.

Marty Marion's pace-setting White Sox, looking for their first victory in the last five games, also swing back into action tonight against the Athletics after enjoying the same day of rest all American league clubs did Monday.

Herb Score Faces Detroit

The defending champion Indians, who are only a half-game out of first place and still have a big stake in the pennant race themselves, will be trying to snap a three-game losing streak when they send their rookie southpaw fireballer Herb Score, against fourth-place Detroit tonight.

Stengel's statement, concerning his floundering Yankees' pennant chances, put him in the same boat with Marion, Indian Manager Al Lopez and Red Sox Skipper Mike Higgins, all of whom have picked their own clubs to win, also.

"I said we'd win before the season started," Marion declared Monday, "and I see no reason to change my prediction now. We had our troubles the past week but I think we'll get straightened out now." Lopez said he was particularly optimistic now that his Indians were off the road and back home at friendly Municipal Stadium again while Higgins insisted that the Red Sox' chances "are as good as anyone's."

Contenders Lead With Southpaws

In any case, the league's top three contenders—the White Sox, Yankees and Indians—will lead with their lefties tonight when they all send southpaws to the mound in a common quest for first place. Billy Pierce (7-8) is Marion's choice to face Bobby Shantz of Kansas City; Whitey Ford (12-5) is Stengel's nominee to go against Yankee nemesis Willard Nixon (11-5) of Boston, and Score (10-9) carries Lopez' hopes against Ned Garver (10-10) of Detroit.

Washington is at Baltimore for a tonight twin-bill in the only other American league action.

Only one game was played in the majors Monday with the Cubs beating the Dodgers, 4-0, on Gene Baker's eighth inning homer. Don Newcombe, who has won 18 games suffered his second defeat of the season and oddly, it was Chicago which also handed him his only other setback last June 12 at Brooklyn. Sam Toothaker (1) Jones held the league-leaders to four hits in registering his 10th victory but even though they lost, the Dodgers continued 14 full games ahead of the field. The loss for Newcombe was the first of his career at Wrigley Field after eight victories there.

Husband Receives Letter from Boasting Rival

CHICAGO (AP) — A self-styled "home breaker" wrote Ellis L. McCollum "I am in love with your wife and I think she is in love with me."

The letter, boastfully signed a "Home breaker," was mailed from Fairbanks, Alaska.

Since that is where McCollum's wife, Doris, 21, and his 2-year-old daughter are staying, McCollum thought it sufficient ground for court action.

Circuit Judge Thomas E. Kluczynski agreed Monday that the letter was something to get mad about. Portions of it read:

"She (McCollum's wife) didn't want to hurt you. Sooner a guy is hurt, the sooner he gets over it."

"We're living in a time now where homes are broken up and nothing is thought of it so why don't you wise up to the facts of life."

"You have been around long enough to know what is going on, so why be stupid and try to hold her? She is mailing this letter for me to show you we mean it. You don't know me, Joker, but I know you."

Kluczynski promptly granted McCollum's request for temporary custody of his child. He also waived a 60-day cooling off period on McCollum's request to file a separate maintenance suit.

The judge concluded with a threat to the "home breaker."

"We will teach this man not to play fast and loose with the court," he said. "Our court processes can reach out to Alaska, even though he is 4,000 miles away."

New Record For Employment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly 65 million Americans held jobs during July — a new all-time record. A joint report issued today by the Commerce and Labor departments said total employment last month reached 64,995,000.

It was the second month in a row that the booming economy had sent employment to a new record high.

The report said unemployment dropped from 2,679,000 in June to 2,471,000 in July.

It said the upswing in jobs from June to July—normally a stable period resulted largely from "unusually brisk hiring of school-age persons — primarily in trade and service activities." In other words a lot of students were getting vacation jobs.

July was the fifth successive month in which total civilian employment has increased.

Two Bandits Take $12,000 from Taylorville Tavern

TAYLORVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Two masked bandits early today held up a tavern here, tying up four persons, and escaped with a reported $12,000 from cash registers.

Sheriff Armando Passoni said the two bandits entered "The Farm" tavern here shortly after midnight. He said owner James Lafferty told him he was getting ready to close for the night when the bandits came in.

Passoni said Lafferty gave him this account:

The masked men, with shawls tied over their heads, tied up Lafferty, his wife, daughter, and a tavern waitress. The holdup men got the $12,000 in cash, mostly small bills, from cash registers.

The bandits were described as 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighing about 160 pounds each. No car was heard driving away.

Passoni said he was not notified until an hour and 45 minutes after the robbery, when Lafferty said he freed himself from the robbers' bonds.

Defense Dep't To Shut Down 14 Activities

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department notified Congress today that it plans to shut down in the "near future" 14 manufacturing activities which can be done as well by private business.

The action applies to such things as coffee roasting, dry cleaning, the manufacture of paint and rope and shoe repairing.

Congress was notified under a provision of the military appropriation bill which requires the Senate and House Appropriations Committee at least 90 days in advance of any shut-down of commercial activities.

President Eisenhower denounced the provision as an unconstitutional invasion of the executive's prerogatives. He said he would disregard the demand that the halt of commercial activities be submitted for committee approval.

The Defense Department did not say whether it would await approval of committees before closing down the facilities.

The cobbler shop at Chanute, Ill., Air Force Base was one of the businesses to be discontinued.

Common-Law 'Widow' Settles Estate Fight

CHICAGO (AP) — A onetime restaurant hostess who claimed to be a millionaire's common-law widow has agreed to settle her fight over his $2,000,000 estate for $76,000.

The agreement, announced Monday, ended a bitter 11-month court battle between attractive Kathryn Wilson Glatt, 36, and the three children of Edward E. Glatt, Sr.

Glatt, onetime owner of the Morrison Hotel here, died last Sept. 2 leaving his estate to his three children.

Mrs. Glatt, however, claimed that Glatt had recognized her as his common-law wife and they had lived together as man and wife for six years. She demanded a common-law widow's share of the estate.

Mrs. Glatt withdrew her claim Monday saying she wanted an end to "nasty" litigation.

She said she wished to "halt the throwing around of the name of Eddie Glatt, whom I loved."

Mrs. Glatt received the $76,000 settlement in recognition of her services as a "business counsel" to Glatt.

Power Workers Return to Jobs At Metropolis

METROPOLIS, Ill. (AP) — Employees at the Metropolis power plant returned to their jobs today after their union and the City Council agreed to let a state arbitration board settle their dispute.

The workers had been on strike since last Wednesday over City Council refusal to recognize the International Union of Operating Engineers as their bargaining agent.

The City Council voted 8-2 Monday night to let the matter be settled by a state arbitration board at Springfield.

John Mathews, representing Local 524 of the union, agreed with the council action.

Ray Edmondson, Illinois Labor Department official who attended the council meeting, said a decision could be expected from the arbitration board in 10 days.

Boy Strangles While Rigging Contraption to Hold Musical Instruments

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — A 13-year-old boy was strangled today while rigging a home-made contraption to enable him to play two musical instruments at the same time.

While seated on a bed, the youngster, Larry Wealand, fashioned out of copper wire a support with which to hold a harmonica to his mouth, leaving his hands free to play a guitar.

To hold the wire in place, he bent it into proper shape, he looped a belt around his neck and fastened it to a bedpost. The mattress slid partly off the edge of the bed and carried him with it.

How Long Will Leaning Tower Of Pisa Stand?

PISA, Italy (AP) — Some pessimistic experts predicting that the Leaning Tower of Pisa, about to celebrate its 781st birthday, won't live out the 20th Century. One of these years it will lean all the way over, they say, and that will be that.

But if you plan to camp nearby with a camera to catch the tower's spectacular finish, there are the optimistic experts to contend with. They say the tower has at least 300 years of health leaning still ahead.

The fate of the 197-foot white marble tower was a subject of general scientific concern on the eve of the Anniversary Wednesday of the laying of its cornerstone.

It was on Aug. 10, 1174, that construction of the tower began. An honor guard of crossbowmen stood straight as ramrods at the site, and the architect, Bonnaus of Pisa, proudly gave directions.

The tower was one-third up when it began to tilt. Bonnaus washed his hands of the affair and the tower stood uncompleted for 90 years. Then Pisans decided to finish it anyhow, building the upper portion heavier on one side to allow for the lean. The bells, weighing 22,000 pounds, were placed in a spot where they wouldn't aggravate the lean.

Since then the tower has stood by hurricanes, earthquakes and wartime bombing raids. It has survived the proings of scientists and the footfalls of panting tourists.

Rate of Lean Increases

What bothers engineers is that the tower leans a little more every year. How long can this go on?

The lean from the perpendicular is now 17 feet 2½ inches, and it is increasing at a rate of about .027 inch a year. This is perceptible only to members of the Ministerial Commission of Vigilance for the Stability of the Bell Tower of Pisa who measure it faithfully once a year.

But Prof. Silvio Ballarin, director of the geodetic institute of the University of Pisa, has noted that over the past 34 years the lean has actually increased an average of .046 inch a year.

In 1907, the tower leaned over a whole 2.75 inches further, and the ministerial commission shot thousands of tons of concrete into its base to forestall what seemed to be an imminent collapse. Similar injections of concrete continued through 1949.

Although some historians claim the architect Bonnaus devilishly plotted the tower's caprice to confound future generations, it is generally believed the tower leans because of shifty sub-soil and underground streams feeding the Arno River.

Eight persons have dived to their deaths from the upper reaches of the tower, and one woman charged with a local murder contended the daily sight of the tower had driven her mind off center.

Cadillac

Figures He's Waited Long Enough!

Figures He's Waited Long Enough!

The long-striding, fast-moving man you see in this picture has made the right decision at the right time!

For the past year or so, he has been thinking about a Cadillac—and he has finally made up his mind.

He is through with compromise and doubt and wonder. This time, he is going after the real thing!

And how lucky he is that he made that decision today! For wonderful news of a special nature is waiting for him.

He'll find, for instance, that Cadillac ownership is far more practical now than ever before. He'll learn, in fact, that the lowest-priced Cadillac can be purchased for little more than he might expect to pay for a goodly number of the so-called medium-price cars.

He'll also find that his dealer—because of a low used-car inventory—is in a position to offer him a very generous allowance on his present car.

And he'll discover that, because of Cadillac's greatly increased production during the current year, he can take title to his new Cadillac after a surprisingly short waiting period.

And all these special inducements, of course, are in addition to the other great Cadillac virtues—such as legendary dependability and long life... remarkable economy of upkeep and operation... and traditionally higher resale value.

All in all, he's walking in on the motor car opportunity of a lifetime!

And how about you? Have you been postponing your dreams of a Cadillac?

If so, there's no reason to wait any longer. Come on in and see us. Let us put you behind the wheel of a Cadillac... and give you the whole, wonderful story of the "car of cars." We think you, too, will decide that you've waited long enough!

HEY LUCILLE TIMES HAVE CHANGED!

"Come away with me, Lucille, in my merry Oldsmobile" was a very enticing invitation, no doubt... but don't you know the "merry Oldsmobile" is now a "Futuramic" and the Stanley Steamer "blew its stack" long ago?
